Course Overview

This three-day course is designed to provide critical care and progressive care nurses with a review of AACN's core curriculum for specialty certification. The first day will provide critical care nurses with an essential review of nursing care and interventions designed for the ICU setting. The second day will combine both the critical care and the progressive care areas. Information essential to each will be presented in a combined method, still complying with AACN's certification blueprint. The third day will be specifically for progressive care nurses and will complete AACN's blueprint for system review. This review is not an introduction to the environment of the ICU or PCU, but a comprehensive update for the professional already in practice at the bedside who is preparing for the certification exam.

Course Objectives

At the completion of this lecture, the participant will be able to:

- Discuss and practice test-taking skills.
- Review critical anatomy, physiology and pathophysiology of each system: cardiovascular, pulmonary, gastrointestinal, hematologic, neurologic, renal and endocrine.
- Discuss significant assessment and diagnostic findings relevant to the critical and progressive care environment.
- Discuss clinical presentation as well as specific patient management modalities of commonly seen critical conditions.
- Discuss the synergy model and its implication for nursing practice.
