Healthy Relationships + Healthy Policies = Healthy Hospitals

Politics is about relationships and relationships are about people. South Carolina's hospitals and health systems employ more than 70,000 people across the state with a $28 billion economic impact. At some point, everyone has an experience with a healthcare provider. You are positioned to tell your story to state and local leaders better than anyone else.

We don't have to look further than the 2024 elections to see how polarized this country has become, and many of these hot-button issues, from healthcare access to reproductive rights, end up on our doorstep. It is essential we have relationships in place to proactively influence policy as issues develop.

With that in mind, here are 3 THINGS you can do to upgrade your relationship and maintain open communications with your state and local elected officials.

1 Schedule Your Visit

- Make appointments with your legislator throughout the year
- Bring the right people
- Clinicians in scrubs have the greatest impact
- Prepare your talking points
- Focus the meeting
- Listen to their needs
- Follow-up and thank them for their time

- Notify all staff of their visit and share talking points
- Have an agenda
- Show them your emergency department
- Introduce them to team leaders and all-stars
- Your employees are their constituents
- Host individual tours - not just the delegation
- Follow-up and thank them for their time

2 Host a Facility Tour

- Identify relationships in your hospital
- Their families work & receive care in your facilities
- Utilize your board members' influence
- Create local partnerships to increase your political capital
- Participate in local events & fundraisers hosted by/for your elected officials
- Always have an open door when they have an issue
- Maintain open dialogue with individual delegation members

3 Be Strategic

SCHA has compiled a list of all South Carolina General Assembly members by hospital. Please use this list to target your legislative advocacy and relationship building with members of the SC House and Senate. We encourage you to prioritize chamber, party, and committee leadership and to ensure that you are reaching out to EVERY member of your legislative delegation. Throughout the 2024 session, we will be calling on you to help tell the story of how the state's hospitals and health systems are leading South Carolina to a better state of health.
